TRAIN SEVERES MAN'S LEGS

Today

Having and Keeping.
1,000,000 Flu Cases.
New Bonfire Starts.
Dry "Influenza."

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.)

IF CHILDREN are worth having, they are worth keeping. Athens, Ga., believes that they are worth having and keeping. Health Commissioner Bagby sends this interesting telegram: "Results of child health demonstration of commonwealth fund during period of five years show number of deaths of white children under 15 per year for five years' demonstration period, lower by 50 per cent than in the four years before the demonstration." This is a wasteful world, and ours is the most wasteful, extravagant nation on earth. The worst of all waste is the waste of child life.

PUBLIC health officials in Washington say that 1 per cent of the population has influenza, a million cases throughout the United States. And "the peak of the epidemic has not been reached."

Get plenty of fresh air, eat moderately, drink plenty of fresh water, not feed, keep away from crowds and keep cheerful. That's about all the advice you can get.

WHEN Henry Ford started his "Ford Motors, Ltd." company, to build Ford cars in Britain for all Europe, he little thought he was starting a new speculative bonfire in Wall Street.

The sales of his stock yesterday, above 400,000 shares, constituted one-quarter of all the business done on the Curb Stock Exchange.

THE British, according to Ford's plan, were to own 40 per cent of his British company. They own little of it now, the Americans having bought it away from them, at a profit of more than 500 per cent, buying the stock for more than four times what Ford charged them for it.

TO MAKE things more interesting, Mr. Ford's Canadian company went up $72 a share.

Next time Ford will arrange it so that those to whom he benevolently sells stock for $5 a share won't be able to get rid of it for a year or two at least.

IT WAS a cheerful day in Wall Street, for those that lend money. Interest on "call money" rose to 12 per cent, the highest in a year.

The "squeeze" in money, predicted for the year's end, seems to have arrived.

HENRY FORD, who probably has never seen Wall Street in his life, says, "There is nothing new under the sun. Motors, airplanes, radios are no more new than 'a dinosaur's egg'."

Mr. Ford thinks civilizations very ancient had flying machines, automobiles, etc. At least he is quoted to that effect.

He's mistaken. The flying machine existed in men's imagination, not elsewhere.

The first flying machine that ever flew on this earth was the Wright brothers'.

On other planets other "men" fly, undoubtedly.

They have flown on Mars, perhaps, for ten million years. But here it is now.

MR. DURANT has given his $25,000 to Maj. Chester P. Mills, former federal prohibition administrator in New York.

Mr. Mills suggests that the enforcement of prohibition be removed from "Influence." It is a good suggestion, but hardly worth $25,000.

Put men in jail that buy from bootleggers and you will discourage bootlegging. But that would not suit the eminently respectable gentlemen that buy from the bootleggers.

BODY IS FOUND IN CEDAR CHEST

Police Rule Suicide in Woman's Death in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28.—The death of Mrs. May Hutchinson, 44, whose body was found in a large cedar chest at her home here last night, was pronounced a suicide by police today.

Clothes, soaked with chloroform, were wrapped around the woman's head, and a bottle of chloroform and a glass of water were in the chest beside the body.

Otis Smythe, a son-in-law, who lives in the same house, discovered the body when he returned home last night. Physicians said the woman had been dead several hours. Despondency over her husband's failure to find work is believed to have been the motive for suicide.

Though police regard the case as a suicide, they are investigating the possibility of foul play. A detective said he became suspicious when one of the woman's relatives took him aside and said, "Now, listen, I didn't do this."

HELDMAN NAMED IN WIFE'S DEATH

MURDER COUNT AFTERMATH OF FEARN TRAGEDY NEAR CANTON

Husband Charged With Killing Margaret Heldman, 21. SHOT IN AUTO

Coroner Acts After Ora Slater Makes Inquiry.

CANTON, O., Dec. 28.—Wilbur O. Heldman, 27, today was formally charged with the murder of his 21-year-old wife Margaret.

Coroner T. C. McQuate filed an affidavit charging the young Lorain furnace salesman with murder with Justice of the Peace Donald Smyth.

Cast in its Fourth Week.

Heldman's attorney, Frank Swartz, said he would not ask a preliminary hearing. Arraignment is expected late today.

The Fearn-Heldman case, which brought death to two persons, enters its fourth week today. Vernard Fearn, a coal dealer, was shot to death at the door of his home in the village of Waco on the night of Dec. 6, by a young woman who escaped.

Just a week later, Heldman and his wife came here in an automobile from their home in Lorain. As they arrived at the sheriff's office Mrs. Heldman was dying with a bullet wound beneath her heart. Heldman said his wife had confessed to him earlier in the evening that it was she who killed Fearn. An incident between herself and Fearn before her marriage, which he was threatening to reveal to her husband unless she submitted to him, was the basis for the murder, according to the reported confession.

Says Wife Shot Herself.

Heldman was placed in the county jail under $5,000 bond as a coroner's witness to his wife's death. He has been in jail since Dec. 15. He says his wife shot herself, using the same pistol with which she killed Fearn, as he was bringing her to the sheriff's office.

Ora Slater, famous Cincinnati private detective, has been investigating the case and questioned Heldman a week ago.

SAMUEL H. WEST BECOMES JUDGE

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28.—Samuel H. West, formerly an attorney for the New York Central railroad, today was formally ushered into office as a United States judge of this federal district. Judge West fills the vacancy created by the death of the late Judge D. C. Weston.

In a court room packed to capacity, Judge A. C. Dennison, of the federal court of appeals, administered the oath of office. United States Marshal George A. Stauffer presented the judicial robes and ushered the new judge to the bench. Federal Judge Paul Jones delivered the address of welcome and Paul Howard, Cleveland attorney, welcomed the judge on behalf of the local bar association.

GANGSTERS SHOOT Foe "ON SPOT"

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Gangster warfare in the South Side beer territory flared anew today and Edward Andriascio, alleged alcohol gang leader, was "put on the spot" and shot and probably fatally wounded by two men in a soft drink cafe.

Apparently the victim of a trap, Andriascio entered the cafe. Two men who had been watching the entrance by the aid of a mirror, wheeled the moment the gang leader stepped inside and poured a volley of shots at him. In the confusion which followed the assailants escaped.

Police heads were apprehensive that the shooting was the start of a new gang war.

WINS DRY PRIZE

Major Chester P. Mills, U.S.A., retired, former prohibition administrator for New York, won the $25,000 prize offered by W. C. Durant for "the best and most practicable plan for making the eighteenth amendment effective." Nub of the Mills plan is more rigid control of industrial alcohol.

VENTILATE ALL PUBLIC PLACES IN FLU FIGHT

Health Board Issues Order as Disease Spreads.

400 CASES HERE

Washington Bureau Says Mortality Rate is Low.

Orders for the ventilation of restaurants, barber shops, waiting stations and other public places where crowds are likely to congregate were issued by health board officials today as Health Commissioner Dr. Edward Miskal estimated 400 cases of influenza had been reported here.

Acting upon orders of J. T. Croxall, chairman of the board of health, Sanitary Inspectors D. J. McKeever and R. E. Hill began a survey of the business district. Occupants of stores, heated with gas stoves, were ordered to provide fume pipes and daily cleaning of cuspidors was also ordered.

Physicians reported about 200 cases of influenza and an unestimated number of flu grippes cases.

Telephone Exchange Hit.

Reports on the number of additional cases of flu reported to physicians will be obtained by the health commissioner each 48 hours.

The epidemic is interfering with operations in the traffic department of the local Bell Telephone exchange. Manager Frank Swaney announced today. Because of illness of regular operators, all substitutes have been called back on duty, but the switchboards are being operated with less than the usual number of employees.

Many operators, telephone company officials said, are suffering from colds but have refused to leave their posts because of the crippled working force. Manager Swaney has asked telephone subscribers to be patient with service under conditions return to normalcy.

The Golden Star Dairy is also crippled in its delivery service, four of its trucks being out of commission.

FIVE DOCTORS ARE CALLED AS KING GEORGE LOSES GROUND

Prince of Wales Visits Palace During Morning.

ENGLAND ALARMED

British Monarch in State of Grave Exhaustion.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Official announcement that King George's condition was unchanged was made at Buckingham palace shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon. Lord Dawson of Penn revisited the palace at 2:30, remaining half an hour.

BY HARRY R. FLORY.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Anxiety over King George's condition, which was somewhat allayed over the Christmas holiday by the absence of disquieting news in the meagre medical bulletins, again gained force this afternoon.

A doctor's bulletin at noon noted improvement in local conditions but it admitted that general conditions did not show the same progress. The king is in a state of grave exhaustion. It is difficult to administer nourishment. New measures are being undertaken to combat weakness.

Princess Cancels Trip.

There was a long medical consultation by five doctors at Buckingham palace in the morning.

The Prince of Wales called at the palace twice during the morning.

Princess Mary, the king's daughter, canceled a proposed trip to Leeds.

The definite improvement in local conditions is regarded as lessening the chance of a recurrence of general infection. But the possibility of ultimate recovery now hinges entirely upon the king's constitutional strength, which, the bulletin infers, is a long way from satisfactory.

After ten days of optimism, the London newspapers were again in the throes of doubt and anxiety today.

Officially it was not admitted that the king had suffered more than a relapse.

Margin of Safety Slimmer.

Palace officials stated there was no immediate cause for alarm. However, it was unofficially admitted that his majesty's margin of safety was now much slimmer.

Sir Stanley Hewitt remained at the palace throughout the night as he has every night since the king's illness took a serious turn.

The violet ray treatment was administered to the royal patient last night for the first time in several days.

YOUTH IS HELD IN AUTO THEFT

Charged with the theft of an automobile by his uncle, Everett Bailey, Dry Run, Clyde Bailey, Second street, was held today for a hearing at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley. He pleaded not guilty to the charge. He furnished $200 bond.

John Hughes, Klondike pottery worker, was at liberty under $100 bond, also until 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, upon a charge of willful destruction of property. Hughes is alleged to have slashed the tires on an automobile with a knife.

FLOOD ATHLETIC LOT FOR SKATING

Practice ground at Patterson Field, Eighth street has been flooded to provide ice skating during the winter.

The edges of the field have been banked with dirt, providing a space comparable with a full-size gridiron, for skaters. The usual danger of breaking ice and a subsequent "ducking," has been eliminated by virtue of the fact that the water under the ice will reach a maximum depth of no more than a foot and a half.

Harry Fenton, caretaker at Patterson Field, has supervised the flooding of the field and will be in charge of the skating pond during the winter.

WYANDS FUNERAL HERE TOMORROW

W. H. Baker, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Worn long and short are bruising the air at Seventy-first Regiment armory, New York City, where Milt Crandall, promoter, is staging weirdest contest yet to dawn upon the metropolis. It's a five-day endurance talking contest, of all things! And here's pretty May Shaw, one of the entrants, anointing her throat with water while she reads from the Bible.

One-Time Show Girl Sets Gabfest Pace

Betty Wilson, Erie, Pa., Tongue-tied With Flagpole Sitter in New York's First Wordiest Contest.

BY DAVID P. SENTNER.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Fourteen jagged-throated entries, without benefit of straight jackets, continued to sing, gibber, and otherwise hold incoherent communications with themselves today at the "talking Marathon."

At the sixty-ninth hour of the wordiest contest in history since Eve added adam for a new Easter lily, Betty Wilson, of Erie, Pa., former swimmer at Carnegie Tech and ex-show girl, was tongue-tied for first place with Albert Williams, of San Antonio.

FALLS UNDER WHEELS AS HE ALIGHTS FROM FAST FREIGHT

Frounie Dickey, 32, Probably Fatally Injured.

LABORER HERE

Accident Occurs as He Returns From Holiday Trip.

Frounie Dickey, 32, colored laborer, of 216 East Second street, was perhaps fatally injured when he fell beneath the wheels of a westbound Pennsylvania freight train at the Broadway crossing at 5:30 o'clock this morning. Both legs were amputated, the left at the knee and the right at the ankle.

Found by Crossing Watchman.

Dickey was found by Girolamo Urt-lacci, watchman at the Broadway crossing, who heard his cries for help after the freight train had passed. Urt-lacci called the Miller ambulance in which Dickey was taken to the City hospital.

Dickey, lately employed by Peter Milliron, Second street contractor, had been out of the city during the last week, and was returning here aboard the freight train when the accident occurred, he said.

Bumps Against Second Train.

Dickey attempted to alight from the train on the southside of the tracks, failing to notice an eastbound freight train which was passing. He bumped against the eastbound freight which hurled him under the moving west-bound train.

The crossing watchman dragged Dickey from the track.

At the hospital the injured man was attended by Dr. H. A. Turk.

Dickey's wife, Mrs. Laura Dickey, lives at Cumberland, Md.

County Pushes Work On New Creek Bridge

Span at Secand Mill Dam Will Also Provide Foundation for 16-inch Water Supply Main to City.

WELLSVILLE, O., Dec. 28.—County employees, under the supervision of the commissioners, are rushing work on the new bridge over Little Yellow creek at the second mill dam with the hope of finishing the job within the coming month.

The span is being constructed on the site of the former dam which was washed out by a rush of water down Little Yellow creek following a rain-storm last summer.

With the dam also went a section of the 16-inch main conveying water from the municipal reservoir to the city.

The new bridge will serve two purposes. It will not only provide vehicular accommodations over the creek but will also furnish a substantial means of laying the water main over the creek.

At the present time an eight-inch substitute section of pipe is being used at this point in the line, suspended over the creek from wire cables.

When the bridge is completed the city will restore the 16-inch piping in that particular section and lay it across the bridge.

The span will be probably 75 feet long, supported by three concrete piers.

Caucasian Tribes Swarming To Join Red Soviet Forces

TIFLIS, Georgia.—The hoary mountain tribesmen of the Caucasus who have been fighting each other with primitive spears, battle axes and cutlasses for centuries because they had nothing else to do, are swarming to the Red army with great gusto. The volunteer quota for Daghestan and other mountain republics was exceeded by more than 100 per cent. The chairman of the Daghestan executive committee begged Moscow authorities to extend the quota so that only a few warriors would be disappointed. Until the revolution the tribes had been held in subjugation. The Soviets opened enlistments to them for the first time this month.

Postmaster Wood

It's Postmaster John T. Wood today.
 The former labor chieftain has dropped the prefix "Acting" from his name, and has become the chieftain of the East Liverpool postoffice by reason of the U. S. senate's confirmation of his nomination.

Thus the man who for 25 years filled an executive post in the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters begins a four-term on his own in the postal service.

He has been acting postmaster since the death last April of former Mayor Charles Brown, who was named to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Postmaster J. Edwin McClure. In the six months he has served, Mr. Wood, whose executive ability was recognized in his long service as president of the pottery workers' parental union, has maintained the high standards established by his predecessors.

The appointment, recommended by Congressman Frank Murphy and approved by Ohio's members of the upper house, is a popular one.

Durant Prize Winners.

Major Chester P. Mills, former federal prohibition administrator for the New York district, is the winner of the $25,000 prize offered by W. C. Durant for "the best and most practicable plan for making the Eighteenth amendment effective." The $5,000 school prize was awarded to Melvin D. Almack, representing the high school of Palo Alto, Calif., who under the terms of the contest will receive $1,000 and the school $4,000.

The Mills plan, deemed the best among 19,000 submitted by 23,230 persons, from every state in the union, deals with the prevention of the diversion of industrial alcohol, which, according to the author, is the principal source of supply for the bootlegger. Young Almack's plan is to be made public Jan. 1.

Participation of more than 23,000 persons in the contest indicates that the subject of law enforcement is uppermost in the public mind.

One hundred and eighty persons suggested execution of violators of the prohibition law; 1,050 recommended government manufacture and sale of liquor, while 1,171 would like to see the army and navy used for suppression of all traffic in distilled spirits. Larger appropriations for bigger dry forces were suggested by 1,004, while 1,588 would like to see the consumer punished equally with the seller. More intense church training was suggested by 1,092 competitors. Modification of the Eighteenth amendment was advocated, in various forms, by 7,956 of the 23,230 persons engaged in the contest.

But one thing entirely missing from the summary of answers or suggestions received by promoters of this unique contest, is the declaration that honest observance of the law would go a long way toward creation of a spirit that would soon force the bootlegger into insolvency. Remove the demand for liquor and the source of supply will dry up.

Greatest Popular Vote.

The greatest popular vote ever recorded in the United States was polled at the recent presidential election, yet Herbert Hoover failed by a few less than half a million ballots of equalling the record plurality given President Coolidge four years ago.

In other words, Mr. Hoover's total vote was proportionately greater than Mr. Coolidge's total vote at the 1924 election, yet the amazing strength of Governor Smith cut into his plurality to such an extent that the margin separating them was something less than five million votes, instead of the seven to ten millions of votes predicted prior to election day.

Governor Smith polled the greatest popular vote ever accorded any Democratic nominee. This was expected by those who had devoted some little attention to the pre-election forecasts and trends. But in the face of so great a popular acclaim, Governor Smith took the worst defeat ever suffered by any presidential nominee.

What is the lesson learned from the final recapitulation of the vote at the presidential election? That there is, after all, a national conscience which functions at times when there is a problem of national importance requiring a referendum. The people went to the polls in greater numbers last November than ever before.

A very large percentage of this increased vote, however, is directly traceable to the women. At the previous presidential election, while they were privileged to vote, there was nothing in the nature of a crisis to cause them to go to the polls. Last November the women attended to their duties at the ballot box with the same gusto which marks their activities in their own homes. Voting had been impressed upon them as a civic duty and they responded to the appeal.

Contests in Oratory.

Oratory is not a lost, but a neglected art. Public speakers, after the manner of poets, are both born and made. No matter how naturally gifted one may be, his gifts can be perfected only by training and practice. And even a poor or indifferent speaker can be measurably improved in public speech by discipline and perseverance.

Disraeli was howled down when he first attempted to address parliament. But as he took his seat, he warned his hearers that they would some day listen to him with rapt attention. And they did. Bryan, as a youth, had all the fire, but none of the graces of the orator. While others were asking to be relieved from practice in public speaking, he took extra assignments. In his first contest, he won second place. In the second he came off winner of the prize.

It is regrettable that the oratorical contest does not hold the place in the esteem of college students that it formerly held. Quite apart from one's vocation, the ability to speak with ease and clarity before an audience is a valuable asset.

The age of oratory—real oratory—never passes. The charm of distinctive conversation and of noble eloquence is as enduring as Egyptian pyramids.

Beauty is a skin game.

Very few are satisfied with their lot unless it is a lot of luck.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 28.—The development of overproduction which has brought hard times to the bituminous coal companies has been a godsend to the consumer. How long the existing economic position can last can only be surmised, but a change is regarded likely. It has been twelve years since the spot price of coal, that is the price which dealers make, has been so low as in 1928. The spot price now ranges around $1.80 a ton.

Domestic consumption in dwellings and apartment houses amounts to 65,400,000 tons or 13 per cent of the total, so, compared with the 1920 peak of recent years, $5.64, a saving in soft coal bills averaging around $1.50 per ton is being realized.

But the big industrial users of coal are those most benefited. Their tonnage requirements have mounted into large sums. The railroads have always been the largest consumers of coal, taking some 150,000,000 tons or about 30 per cent of each year's output. General industrial consumers such as mills and factories account for 119,280,000 tons or 23 per cent; cooking plants which produce gas take 84,365,000 tons or 16 per cent, and public utilities consume 41,950,000 tons or 8 per cent.

Also there has been a decided improvement in service to consumers, in addition to lower prices for, unlike the situation in many industries, the poorer the demand the better the service in respect to coal deliveries. At periods of intense demand, car congestion is likely to occur. Congestion and car shortage bring inevitable delays in delivery and this starts competitive bidding among dealers. Prices soar upward and the consumer feels the pinch. For a period of about eight weeks each winter the railroads are called upon to move about 13,000,000 tons each week.

About three years ago the railroads made a special effort to improve their distribution of coal cars and the organization of the supply with the result that the old shortage difficulty now has been abated. Railroad rates are no higher for this improved service but the consumer does get the advantage of lack of incentive on the part of dealers to bid against each other for deliveries.

Strikes in the bituminous coal fields formerly were a prolific cause of disruptions in deliveries with consequent booming of prices. There is no saying that that difficulty will never rise again but conditions seem to be against such a development.

Resources in the ground are extensive. Today large companies own or have under lease vast tracts of coal land which have never felt the pick. They are reserves which can be thrown on the market whenever there is a demand. And, as large sums of capital are tied up in these lands, the slightest demand encourages working to the end that a turn may be realized. Moreover, soft coal is worked with relatively low-skilled labor. And, once a mine is opened up, the owners often prefer to keep it dribbling along, even if it produces no profit.

Railroads have contributed much to this condition. In order to increase their coal traffic, railroads in coal mining regions offer inducements to operators to open mines. Latterly, the invention and introduction of labor-saving machinery in the mines has further stimulated coal production, making it easier to bring coal above ground and handle it for shipment.

These several factors have produced a situation in some years causing readily available mining capacity of more than twice the tonnage of coal demanded by the market. In 1921 there was an excess capacity of 106.7 per cent and the following year this figure had risen to 117.1 per cent. Present capacity is half again as much as is demanded.

The unions have maintained their scale but the scale is meaningless if there is no work. In April, 1927, the union miners in the bituminous fields struck. The net result to them was bitter loss. So many non-union mines were operating that during that strike period more coal was produced than in the corresponding months of the previous year and some of the mines which were compelled to close by the strike have not yet reopened. Non-union wages are little more than half the union scale.

Questions And Answers

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Many readers send in questions signed only with initials, asking that the answers appear in the newspaper. The space is limited and could not accommodate a fraction of such requests. The answers published are ones that may interest many readers, rather than the one who asks the question only. All questions should be accompanied with the writer's name and address and two cents in coin or stamps for reply. Send your question to the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. How much money was saved in Christmas clubs this year? H. T. S.

A. Over $550,000,000 was put into Christmas savings in 1928 by some 8,000,000 people. Of this amount it is estimated that $165,000,000 will be put into permanent savings accounts or investments. Less than half of the total will actually be spent for Christmas gifts.

Q. What letter in our alphabet is the first letter in most words? J. D.

A. The letter with which the most words begin is S. In a new dictionary, they number 57,428.

Q. How long has grapefruit been grown in Florida M. G.

A. Grapefruit appears to have been brought to Florida by the Spaniards in the 16th century, and many desirable varieties have been originated there.

Q. Who is the chief descendant or representative of Sir Walter Scott at the present time? F. T. J.

A. The British Library of Information says: "Sir Walter Scott is now lineally represented by the family of his great-granddaughter, the Hon. Mrs. Mary Monica Maxwell Scott, whose eldest son is Colonel Walter Joseph Maxwell Scott of Abbotsoford, C. B., D. S. O., Kara Georg with Swords (Serbian), Legion d'Honneur (Croix d'officier), Croix de Guerre."

Q. Who introduced the broom into America? S. P.

A. Records found in a diary in North Hadley, Massachusetts, show that Benjamin Franklin introduced the broom into America. The diary relates that a woman acquaintance of Franklin sent him from India a whisk broom with broom corn seeds on the stalks. He planted the seed and passed the stalks among his friends, making round brooms by winding thread around several stalks.

Q. In a game of Five Hundred, at no-trump, the nine of Diamonds is led, the Ace of Diamonds follows. I have the joker, but also a small Diamond. May I play the joker on the trick? H. H.

A. The holder of the joker at no-trump, not having the lead, is not allowed to play the joker if he can follow suit. When the holder of the joker has the lead, he may lead the joker and call for any suit he chooses, even when holding cards of the suit in his hand.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Thoughts while strolling: Max Stear, the great criminal lawyer, who might be taken for a leading grocer in Galesburg, Ill. A famous toe dancer stumbles. And blazes furiously. Those dried-up little old men with red honor ribbons in lapels. The kind who like to do an old-fashioned waltz.

Ernie Barton, a Robbins, Tenn. boy, who made good in the city. Angry motorist to fluttering pedestrian: "Make up your mind within the week." Women with the despairing look of those entertaining out-of-town visitors. The seedy back-washes from Brummell with puff ties and gray berbies.

Sign on loaded dice in a magic window: "Fool your friends." Yes, and probably get shot. A hotel featuring a Maitre de Beaute. Ben Ali Haggia who looks like my boyish idea of a city slicker. And his young bride. The swoop and whirl of mid-town pigeons. Gertrude Altherton. Wonder what those hussies ladies who thought it naughty to exit with a wink and back kick think of naked revues? Those tall, mysterious women with long jade ear drops, a dark Oriental make-up, and I can-be-had walk. The whinnying, forced laugh of those who listen to a policeman's joke.

The West Forty-second street panorama—flea circuses, five-cent book shops, Army and Navy stores, public ticket agencies, a dozen theaters to the block, furative sidewalk speculators, and George White and his mid get how the. The din of dishes and babel of tongues.

Delivery wagons in the modernistic manner. Wish somebody would hand George Jessel the address of a good barber. On second thought—never mind. A school of eating. I know a lot of dandy addresses for swell pupils. Clap hand, here comes the musical comedy juvenile who wears ribbon bows for cuff links.

Beggars who sit delectably on elevator stairs. Fly-by-night stores, with silk-shirted, bedamned proprietors. Those recherche—wonder if that's right—French cafes where the uniformed chief greets you. Street dancers, dance hall pianos, the melody from radio shops, hurdy gurdies—I want Heifeiz!

Leukemia is a rather uncommon disease of the spleen. Also it attacks the marrow of the bones and the lymphatic glands.

The spleen is one of the largest glands in the body, located on the left side of the abdomen. In leukemia it becomes greatly enlarged. With this condition there are disturbances in digestion. The stomach and intestines do not function as they should. As a result, there are sickness at the stomach, vomiting and diarrhoea. The appetite is lost.

Between the failure of nourishment due to vomiting, and the lack of nourishment due to bad appetite, there is gradual loss of weight and strength. The victim gives every evidence of serious illness.

In leukemia the white cells of the body are greatly increased in number. On the other hand the red blood cells are decreased. This remarkable change in the blood shows in the skin of the sufferer. The natural color is gone. The skin becomes so white it is fairly waxy in appearance.

Nosebleed and other hemorrhages are not uncommon. There may be bleeding under the skin. Less frequently there is bleeding from the bladder and blood is seen in the urine.

The symptoms are gradual in their onset. This may be so inconspicuous that it is rare for the actual leukemia to drive the victim to a physician. The change in complexion or else the swollen abdomen may lead to medical consultation.

That the trouble really is leukemia is determined by an examination of the blood. Without a report from the laboratory, the determination is only guesswork.

Complete recovery from leukemia is not to be expected, but by proper care the life may be spared for years. I am speaking now of the chronic form. The acute form is not quite so hopeful.

This ailment is not infrequently associated with other diseases. Tuberculosis is one of them. Influenza or erysipelas sometimes complicates the case.

There are encouraging periods when the patient appears to grow very much better. Unfortunately, however, the symptoms reappear. These improvements are a bit misleading because they raise false hopes of complete cure.

All of the "natural methods" must be used in the treatment. That is, there must be proper food, fresh air and sunshine, lots of sleep and freedom from business cares. All these matters are important. Medicine and X-Ray treatment will be employed. Actual removal of the spleen has been employed and has been successful in a few instances.

As I suggested in the beginning, this is one of the diseases which demands continued study. It will have obligations to the tireless research workers. They burn midnight oil and make great sacrifices to devote their lives to the study and cure of the serious diseases.

Some day, and I believe it won't be long postponed, the world will hear that the cause and cure of leukemia have been discovered. There will be great rejoicing, and I pray it may be soon.

Science and the Sense of Sin

It is not true, as some persons might be led to think by recent discussions alleged to be more or less scientific, that men of science generally have discarded the conception of sin, and that rational theology will have to adjust itself to radical conclusions on the part of psychology, ethics and sociology in dealing with the phenomena long condemned as sinful. Despite all the discoveries of modern science, the sense of sin persists and is certain to continue to persist. That sense is an aid to and a condition of social progress.

Sin is not merely another and more exact name for antisocial behavior. It is a name for a distinct thing—namely, the consciousness of a regrettable departure from a desirable standard, of a lapse, a violation of one's duty to his own truer and worthier self. One is ashamed of sin, because one feels that one has wronged oneself as well as others.

The average human mind or heart is a theater of war; all sorts of emotions, passions and desires battle there for supremacy. Dr. Johnson said there were seven men in every human being. Modern science confirms this view of multiple personality. When the lowest prevails, the higher, better selves feel aggrieved and degraded. The sense of sin is the sense of having suffered this degradation. It helps one in the effort to resist evil and temptation, to live up to one's highest standards.

Society provides punishment for certain offenses, but the sense of sin on one's own breast is perhaps even more important than punishment as a preventative of antisocial behavior.

How you dislike the catty person! The one who purrs so loud and dinks so deep with its polished claws. Yet you love to watch a little kitten.

Even a big cat, at its cattiest, is amusing.

When you encounter a catty person why don't you get something amusing out of it.

Why should you take it to heart that one of these sleek, smooth-surfaced human felines has chosen to get under your skin?

If you did not amount to anything at all there would be no occasion for that kind of a thrust.

Because it is sort of sly and underhand it isn't worth fighting.

There is no satisfaction in clawing an unresisting surface.

Forget it.

There is nothing that takes so much of the poison out of such tactics as ignoring them.

If you are much in public life you will always have around you catty persons who are jealous and want to give you an undercut that would not be dared in the open.

Don't give them the satisfaction of knowing the dig struck home.

It needn't, if your attitude is the armor it should be.

And you are as big as you should be.

CHRISTMAS LUNCHEON-BRIDGE PARTY GIVEN FOR COUNTRY CLUB LADIES

Miss Louise Vodrey and Mrs. Lawrence W. Smith are Hostesses.

Christmas luncheon-bridge for ladies of the East Liverpool Country club was held yesterday afternoon with Miss Louise Vodrey and Mrs. Lawrence W. Smith as hostesses. Covers were arranged for 26. The table was decorated with miniature Christmas trees and other novelties and a color scheme of red and green.

Trophies for bridge were awarded Mrs. George L. Howe and Miss Mary Hester Anderson.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. John S. Robb III and Miss Enaline Robb of Pittsburgh.

Mary Martha Class Elects Officers.

The Mary Martha class of the Methodist Protestant church, meeting last night in the social room of the club, with Mrs. Charles Risner presiding, elected the following officers: Presi-

BETWEEN BYOU AND ME

IT was apparent that the little fellow was suffering genuine misery in his tummy tum tum. "How long have you had this pain, Sonny?" asked the family doctor. "I dunno," returned the boy. "I can't tell time."

THE OWL DRUG COMPANY—A National Institution, was very wise to place on the market, a tooth paste to meet the preference of many dentists. Made of the best cleansing and prophylactic ingredients, it is a safe and effective dentifrice. Visit Carnahan's Drug Store today and purchase a tube of Owl Milk of Magnesia Tooth Paste. It will be your favorite in the future.

AS YOU WALK ALONG Fifth Street glance towards Moyer's Upstairs Store windows (over McCrory's 5 & 10 cent store). Those smart frocks of bright red that you see will surely tempt you to spend some of your Christmas money. Notice that one on the right—with the flared-out pleats that give the fashionable fullness to the skirt. Isn't it attractive? These are only a few of the many new dresses you will find up there. They are fashionably made of the loveliest crepes, satins and georgettes and are priced at only $15.00.

BUYING AN ADMISSION TICKET at the STATE means far more than being entertained with the performance alone. You will be awed and inspired by the artistic elegance which surrounds you—in this new palace of play. The feature picture for today and tomorrow will be "Telling the World" starring William Haines and Anita Page. A picture showing the real thrills and romance of newspaper life. Should you experience the disappointment that hundreds of folks did on Christmas Day, ie, a crowded house, you will enjoy seeing Billie Dove in "Adoration," a First National picture showing at the American Theater today and tomorrow, also.

EVENING DRESSES? You will find some lovely frocks at Stein's for those important events you are looking forward to. In the season's most popular shades and beautifully designed—these dresses are models of exclusiveness. You will want one now while the holiday season is at its height, for the prices on them have been reduced considerably.

A BIT OF GOOD NEWS which I know will interest you is this—Bendheim's Shoe Store has quite a few pairs of shoes (broken lots from the Pre-Christmas rush) that are being offered at greatly reduced prices. I hope your size is among them for they are all this season's styles in the usual high-quality Bendheim foot-wear. It will be to your advantage to see them early tomorrow morning.

I KNOW A LADY who has been flitting with a certain fur coat for several weeks waiting patiently for a more convenient price tag to be fastened to it's button-hole. Ogilvie's have already announced their after-Christmas Sale on their fur coats so I suspect our friend has the coat of her choice by this time. Not only are the fur coats reduced but every other coat in the store (excepting Chinchillas) has had its price tag changed to lower figures.

TAKE YOUR HAND MIRROR FOR A MOMENT. How about those lines around your eyes? Notice the coarseness or muddiness of your skin. Don't like it a bit, do you? Then call Main 559—Stern Beauty Shoppe—and make an appointment for a Marinello Facial. Your first treatment will do your skin and your courage a world of good. For every condition of the skin there is a scientific treatment—for oiliness... for coarse pores... for black-heads, wrinkles and acne.

CHRISTMAS COMES BUT ONCE A YEAR but those Taxes have a mean way of bobbing up a couple times each year. They are not nearly so hard to look at if you plan to meet them with part of your Christmas Savings Account. Many folks do, you know. Why not try this convenient method of saving? The First National Bank is still enrolling new members in their 1929 Christmas Savings Club. It will only take a minute and a very small amount of money so please don't postpone it too long.

HAVE YOU VISITED MILLIRON'S new filling station yet? Remember my telling you about the courteous treatment and the splendid service I experienced there. They not only have an up-to-the-minute Station but the quality of their merchandise speaks for itself.

DRY RAIDERS GET "SPIKED" CHICAGO ALE

Seize 12,000 Gallons in North Clark Street
Brewery.

VATS SMASHED

Seven, at Work in Place.
Hear Squad Coming
and Flee.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—There was a shortage of "Carling's Canadian ale" in Chicago today following a raid by prohibition agents on a brewery on North Clark street.

Known familiarly as "black label," the ale was Chicago speakeasies' biggest seller. Purchasers believed it came from Canada. The label, flavor and "kick" were very convincing.

The raid netted the second largest supply of contraband beverage seized in Chicago since the advent of prohibition. The raiders smashed vats containing 12,000 gallons of beer ready to be "spiked" into "Canadian" ale.

Seven men, at work in the place, heard the raiders coming and escaped.

THREE OHIOANS TO BE PAROLED

Governor Donahey Commutes Sentences of Youths.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 28.—Governor Vic Donahey has commuted the sentence of three prisoners, each of whom had been sentenced to serve from 10 to 25 years for burglary. It was announced today. These recipients of executive clemency are:

Daniel Brown, Cuyahoga county; James Probert, Stark county, and Bert McAllister, Summit county. The governor's action, which was in response to recommendations by the state clemency board, will permit the board to parole these men.

Brown has served seven years' imprisonment, Probert, six years, and McAllister, five years. Due to their youth and the fact that they were first offenders, the trio were transferred to the state reformatory at Mansfield, after being received at the Ohio penitentiary.

Copper production in Chile for 1928 is reported to have exceeded that of the previous year by 30 per cent.

LAWYERS PAY TRIBUTES TO G. E. DAVIDSON

Late Trial Attorney Honored by District Bar.

MEMORIAL MEET

Services are Held in Municipal Court-room.

Resolutions of respect for the late George E. Davidson, East Liverpool attorney, who died in his home here Christmas morning, were adopted at a memorial meeting of the Columbiana County Bar association in municipal courtroom at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The resolutions, submitted by Attorney Ben L. Bennett, were adopted unanimously.

About 50 members of the bar from Columbiana and adjoining counties attended the services at which Attorney J. H. Brooks, president of the county association, presided. Short talks in which Mr. Davidson was eulogized were made by Judge W. P. Barrum, Youngstown; Judge W. F. Lones, Wellsville; George Lafferty, Lisbon; deputy prosecutor; Blaine H. Cochran and Frank Groshans, East Liverpool; R. A. Hahn, Youngstown and Annette Judge L. T. Farr, Lisbon.

Following the meeting members of the bar went to the Davidson home where they viewed the body prior to funeral services conducted at 3 o'clock. The Rev. J. H. Lawther, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, preached the funeral sermon. Burial was made in Riverview cemetery.

Text of Resolutions.
The resolutions, approved by the bar association, were:

Admired, Honored, Loved.
"The people of our community were shocked on December 25th, Christmas day, to learn of the death of an esteemed citizen and our fellow co-worker, George E. Davidson.

"Mr. Davidson was born in East Liverpool, 1874, son of two of its most highly respected citizens, Mitchell and Jane Till Davidson. He attended East Liverpool high school and Bethany college and after completing his course there took up the study of law in the office of the late Col. H. R. Hill. In 1899 he graduated from the law department of the Ohio State university at Columbus, and immediately began the practice of law in a partnership with his brother-in-law, Walter B. Hill. This firm continued in the practice until 1919 when they were joined by the Hon. W. F. Lones, now the common pleas judge of our county, who remained with his associates until his elevation to the bench.

"Mr. Davidson married Marian Hill, a sister of his life long law partner, in 1900. At the time of his death he was the president of the Southern Columbiana County Bar association and was affiliated with several fraternal organizations. He was, during his entire life, admired, respected, honored and loved by all and by reason of his many acts of loving kindness bestowed upon those with whom he came in contact his friends were legion.

Honest and Conscientious.
"He was a strong and vigorous manly character, many sided, wise, fearless and capable. He was scrupulously honest and conscientious, outspoken in his belief, a warrior for the right, notably unselfish and his energy and activity, even in the decline of his health of recent years, was almost beyond belief; a man true to his convictions; a fearless trial lawyer who was always able to convince the jury of his sincerity and honesty of purpose, beloved by friend and adversary; a man whose life has been one continuous sacrifice for the welfare, pleasure and comfort of others. It was not the remuneration of any particular issue which attracted him but rather the protection of the interests of his clients.

"We regret his life was not further extended and his helpfulness to his fellow men thereby enlarged. By his death this community has lost a worthy citizen; this bar an eminent member and its members an esteemed and respected associate; his relatives a man beloved; his friends a devoted adherent and his clients a most loyal and tireless servant. It can be truly said of him whom we affectionately knew as 'Shorty' that he 'spoke no evil, he caused no ache, he uttered no jests that would pain awake.' He will be sadly missed and his place hard to fill.

"Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the journal of the common pleas court of Columbiana county, and the municipal court.

Non-Stop Both Ways

H. F. Mitchell, of Wichita, Kans., nephew of Colonel William Mitchell, former chief of the Army air service, is planning to take off from Roosevelt Field, New York, in an attempt to make a non-stop round trip transcontinental flight. He estimates that 17 1/2 hours each way will be enough time to make the trip.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE settles for a short rest on Howard Coffin's place in the sunshine of the Georgia coast.

Herbert Hoover is hurrying back to Washington, omitting for the present his visit to Florida, to get ready for March 4.

Washington predicts that Dwight Morrow will be secretary of state. Mr. Morrow's success in Mexico would make that seem reasonable. But predicting for Mr. Hoover is dangerous.

THE United States air mail has set a new record for speed, traveling from Dallas, Tex., to Chicago in six hours 42 minutes, a good deal of the time at the rate of THREE AND ONE-HALF MILES A MINUTE.

Thanks are due the postoffice for really developing American aviation.

IT APPEARS that the estate of the late Judge Gary, head of the Steel Trust, amounted to less than $13,000,000.

He could have made more money than that by buying himself a little "Steel common" back in the war days when he told this writer: "Buy Steel." It will soon declare a dividend.

This writer gave the good advice to Albert Lasker, afterward by 1 of the Shipping Board, who bought Steel. It climbed up from $50 to $135 without stopping to take a breath. Knowing all about it, Mr. Gary could easily have made fifty or a hundred million with a little "pyramiding." But he never gambled.

ADMITS MURDER, MAIL ROBBERY

KASCHAU, Czechoslovakia, Dec. 28.—A man arrested here today on criminal charges was said by police to have confessed his implication in a number of mail robberies and a murder in the United States.

The prisoner, who described himself as Nikolaus Heisswebe, admitted, according to police, he was involved in mail robberies in Ohio and North Dakota in cooperation with American criminals described as "Bellamy, King and Macneil."

of the city of East Liverpool, and a copy thereof forwarded to his beloved wife, whose association and companionship was so great a boon to him in the alleviation of many years of suffering.

"It is further resolved that copies hereof be sent to the law bulletin, the Ohio bar and the newspapers of this community."

"HANDS OFF ALL LEGISLATION" HOOVER POLICY

President-elect Will Not Act Before Inauguration.

WATCHES CAPITAL

No Intimation of Attitude Regarding Special Session.

BY LAWRENCE SULIVAN.

ABOARD U. S. S. UTAH, (Via Arlington, Va., Radio Station), Dec. 28.—President-elect Herbert Hoover, who is due in Washington Sunday evening, Jan. 6, will adhere strictly to a policy of "hands off legislation" until after his inauguration on March 4, it was learned today.

However, Mr. Hoover is following with the closest interest the legislative situation in Washington. He receives news of each day's events by radio.

Faces Busy 10 Days.

The president-elect faces an extremely busy 10 days in Washington. He has under consideration a number of problems that will engage his attention when he enters the White House. He will hold numerous conferences with party leaders regarding cabinet appointments. This task comes first in inauguration plans in the background.

So far Mr. Hoover has not intimated his attitude regarding a special session of congress.

The president-elect expects to reach Florida about Jan. 25 and to spend some time there fishing.

Officers and crew of the Utah are making preparations for a New Year's Eve fete aboard the warship Monday night. There will be a "watch party" to welcome the New Year.

Silence May Block Action.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Plans are under way for the formation of a special congressional delegation to call upon President-elect Herbert Hoover upon his return here and urge him to adopt a "hands off" policy on agricultural legislation in the present short session, it was learned today.

The proposal is understood to be based upon a belief that no legislation can be enacted if Mr. Hoover remains silent and that he then will call a special session shortly after March 4. The prospect of the president-elect's return and his reported desire to head off a special session apparently has not shaken militant members of the so-called "farm bloc" in their policy.

Rep. L. J. Dickinson (R.) of Iowa declared an extra session for both farm relief and tariff legislation is necessary to redeem the Republican party's pre-election promises.

Predict Extra Session.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—President-elect Herbert Hoover will not be able to avoid calling a special session of congress.

This was the consensus today of Senator Borah (R.) of Idaho and other senators who have been urging postponement of farm relief legislation until an extra session after March 4. It was Borah who, during the campaign, induced Mr. Hoover to promise a special session if a satisfactory farm bill was not passed this winter.

Senator Brookhart (R.) of Iowa, another Hoover campaigner, expressed the same opinion.

Borah related his views as follows: "There are three problems—the reduction of marketing costs in the home market, the handling of the surplus, and tariff relief to keep our foreign competition. One farm bill, like the McNary measure, cannot possibly solve the problem."

As behooves an alleged expert at a great public spectacle, the writer predicts that Miss Wilson and Williams will finish in a deadlock of illiterate verbiage when the final period is called at midnight on Saturday.

"If a situation will call for a playoff and if the public insists on buying tickets to hear nothing in particular, Promoter Milt Crandall will act like the gentleman he is. Of course, Williams, not having his flag pole with him, will be at a disadvantage.

The predicationary should also contain the possibility of a cough drop concern taking the winner of the contest to its bosom.

COSTS MORE TO SUPPORT HORSE THAN WIFE, COURT IS TOLD

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—It costs $9.50 a week more to support a horse than it does a wife, according to records on file in Judge Jacob Fisher's court today.

The judge awarded Mrs. Pauline Kosoff $4 a week for support when he granted her separate maintenance plea after the defendant, Samuel Kosoff, testified it takes $12.50 of his weekly earnings as a peddler to keep his horse.

His average weekly income is $35, Kosoff testified.

Mrs. Phoebe Garver, Ashland, on Blind Commission.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 28.—Appointment by Governor Vic Donahey of Mrs. Phoebe B. Garver, Ashland, as a member of the state blind commission for a term ending in July, 1933, succeeding the late C. H. Parkin, Cleveland, was announced today.

The governor reappointed Gen. J. Warren Ketter, Springfield, as a trustee of the Ohio archaeological and historical society. Dr. Harry R. Barbacher, Columbus, was chosen to succeed Carl Armstrong, Youngstown, as a member of the same board of trustees. Ketter is a former speaker of the national house of representatives.

E. A. Brown, Circleville, was selected by Donahey to succeed Judge Joseph W. Adkins as probate judge of Pickaway county. Adkins will become Pickaway county's common pleas judge January 1.

Mild Form of Disease.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—An analysis of reports of the rapid spread of the influenza epidemic by Public Health bureau experts today indicated that there is no present danger of the disease approaching the virulence of that of 1918, when a half million died. Officials were greatly encouraged at the fact the situation in California, Montana and other states where the epidemic is receding is satisfactory and that pneumonia is not developing as seriously as was first feared.

While the epidemic is fully as widespread as that of the war winter, the mortality rate continues comparatively low. As the disease sweeps into the east the death rate undoubtedly will increase owing to the population congestion and cold weather, but not with the severity of 1918.

Pneumonia Likely to Develop.

At Surgeon General Cummings's office it was stated that the greater number of deaths from influenza may be anticipated as the epidemic declines in number of cases. In this stage of the disease pneumonia is more likely to develop.

Although deaths have been more numerous in California and Montana in the last week, the rate is still comparatively low, indicating, according to the health service, that the epidemic will not become highly fatal.

The 9,000 deaths reported in 78 selected large cities by the census bureau are far under the same localities in 1918. The census bureau plans to make a weekly tabulation of deaths in connection with Public Health Service's study of the spread of the disease.

Plan Scientific Investigation.

A nation-wide scientific investigation of the flu situation will be started by the health service as soon as a fund of $100,000 is available out of the annual appropriation of $400,000 for the study of epidemics. This sum will be authorized within a few days and details of the study will immediately be made by the surgeon general.

Several cities in widely scattered sections, including the east, west, north, south and middle west will be selected. Experts will visit these cities and make a close study of the character of the disease of the victims. The results will be submitted to Washington for a more detailed laboratory study.

No Recognized Preventive.

So far there is no recognized preventive, except to avoid contact with infected persons, admittedly impossible. There apparently is no effective remedy to check the disease once it has started. An expert pointed out that one of the serious problems faced in preventing spread is the fact that the flu may be conveyed by an individual to another, before the victim is conscious that he is afflicted. Most diseases are not contagious or infectious until in the more advanced stages.

Public health officials believe the death toll all over the country may reach 45,000 to 50,000 before the epidemic is over.

GASTONIA, N. C., Dec. 24.—Trapped in their blazing home, a father, a mother and three of their children were burned to death early today. A 17-year-old son, caught as he attempted to flee from the scene in the family automobile, was accused of murder and setting fire to the house.

Members of the family who were burned to death are: J. M. Vanderberg, father; Mrs. Vanderberg, Pauline Vanderberg, 18; Louise Vanderberg, 10; Robert Vanderberg, 12.

Jacob Vanderberg, 17, was caught fleeing from the burning house. Police placed charges of murder against him.

No confirmation could be had either from Mr. Rosenwald or persons known to be high in the president-elect's councils.

$125,000 THEFT SUSPECT HELD

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—Enrico Conune, 50, whom police describe as secretary of the New York Chamber of Commerce, was arrested here today by Pittsburgh and New York detectives on warrants charging him with the theft of $125,000 of the chamber's funds.

New York police, who are said to have sought him for two months, came here on a tip that Conune had been seen in an Italian restaurant here. He was arrested on a street corner. Authorities here said he had been indicted in New York on charges of looting the chamber's funds. He will be returned to New York tonight.

Officials at Lloyds are Mystified by Unexpected Rush for "Freak Policies."

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Leading British brewers and distillers are taking out insurance policies at Lloyds against the possibility of prohibition in this country, it was learned today.

Some of them evidently fear that prohibition may be "put over unexpectedly."

"Dry forces" in Great Britain are trying to make an issue of prohibition in the general election next year.

Officials at Lloyds are mystified by this unexpected rush for an insurance which is the latest in the schedule of "freak policies."

At first the underwriters were inclined to laugh at the idea, but now they are issuing policies for large sums at the rate of five shillings for every 100 pounds. These represent
"odds" of 400 to 1 and, in the opinion of experts, are not very generous.

The majority of the insurers are men who have spent their lives in the brewing and distilling business, and the chief motive of insuring is the possibility of a prohibition policy being adopted when the government changes in 1929.

was announced today by the commit-

Among the questions to be discussed by the pastors will be "Is the American Family Disintegrating?"
"Can the Monogamous Family Withstand the Assault of Behaviourism,
Mechanism and Materialism in Class Room, Commercial Circles and the Clubs of Today?" "Should the Church Oppose the Teaching of Scientific Birth Control?" "What is the Greatest Danger Confronting the American Home Today? Easy Marriage, Easy Divorce, Industrial and Economic Conditions?" "Just How Badly Off Are We in Respect to Divorce?" "Should the Number of Di-vorcees Allowed to a Given Individual
Be Limited By Law?" "What is the Church's Most Effective Weapon in Defense of the Home?"

Hudkins-DeVos Battle Tonight May Develop Future Champion

Vance, Benton Lead National Pitchers in Effectiveness

Dazzler Shows Earned Run Average of 2.09; Burleigh Grimes of Pirates is League's "Iron Man."

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Dazzler Vance, Brooklyn's speedball king, and Larry Benton of the New York Giants, led the National league pitchers for 1928. Vance led in holding down the score, allowing an average of only 2.09 earned runs for each nine inning game, and Benton tops the won and lost column with 25 victories and nine defeats.

The dazzler took part in 38 games and played through 24 of them. Pitching 279 innings, equivalent to 31 games, Vance allowed only 65 earned runs. He also placed fourth in the won and lost standing with 32 victories and 10 losses.

Second in effectiveness was Blake of Chicago, with an earned run average of 2.46 per game. Neff, another Cub, was third, with 2.64 and Clark, a second Robin, fourth with 2.68. Among hurlers who did not pitch ten complete games grouped separately from the ones who bore the main burden, Haid of St. Louis and Koupol of Brooklyn broke in ahead of Blake but Haid did not complete a game and Koupol pitched only one nine inning contest.

Haines Second to Benton. Second to Benton in the won and lost standing was Haines of the Cardinals, who had 26 wins and eight losses for an average of .711. Fitzsimmons of the Giants, with 20 and nine took third in this ranking.

Grimes of Pittsburgh, was the iron man of the league, pitching in 48 games and 331 innings and facing 1377 batters to lead in all three respects.

For the seventh successive year Vance led in strikeouts, with 299 whiffs. Malone of the Cubs came in a bad second with 155 and Root of Chicago was third with 122. Five pitchers tied for the shutout crown with four each. They were Vance, Blake, Grimes, McWeney of Brooklyn and Lucas of Cincinnati.

Western Coach Curtails His Grid Sessions

Bears to Get One Workout Daily Until Jan. 1 Game.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 28.—"Nibs" Price, the Little Napoleon, determined to clinch supremacy for the western football empire, today declared himself so satisfied with the way his California Bears are shaping up for the New Year's day tussle with Georgia Tech that hereafter his charges will have only one workout a day until game time.

After sending the boys through six hours of drill in the Rose bowl, Price said the squad would have only one scrimmage, and that a three-hour session.

"They're coming along in pretty good shape," declared Price. "Condition will tell the story next Tuesday and I won't know until then just how good they are. When you don't even practice for a month it's pretty hard to get an accurate eline on the boys."

The Pasadena bowl was scheduled to house the Tech squad in the afternoon for another one of Bill Alexander's tough scrimmages. The southern skipper raced his charges through one tough drill yesterday, the first really tough practice since their Georgia

Dempsey's Double Here for Bout

At first glance you'd probably say the above photo was an early Jack Dempsey, taken in the lean and hungry days of the Manassa mauler. The gent in fighting pose is none other than Max Schmelling, Germany's heavyweight champion, who is a new arrival to complicate the contender situation in the United States. He's about Dempsey's weight, packs a punch in either hand and is reputed to be able to "take it."

game, and he came right back today with another.

Raleigh Drennon, right guard, and Jim Brooken, his substitute, who were out of the drill yesterday because of a fever, were expected to get back in to the harness today for at least a light workout.

The tornado is gathering up great headway, with only four days of work remaining before the crucial tussle. The southerners seem to have no trouble working up spirit over the contest, and they'll take the field determined to live up to the high standard of southern football set by Alabama in two previous games here.

SEKYRA TO MEET CUBAN TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—The qualifications of two young heavyweights will be on parade at the Coliseum tonight when Joe Sekyra of Dayton, Ohio, and Bobby Brown of Cuba, swap punches in a scheduled ten round bout.

Sekyra, hailed by critics as one of the most promising of the new crop of heavyweights, holds decisions over Jim Braddock, who flattened Tuffy Griffiths, and "K. O." Christner, conqueror of Knute Hanson. Brown, a terrific puncher, has a bobbing and weaving style and is hard to hit.

PAIR OF GARDEN BOUTS LINED UP

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Tom McArdle, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, announces he has completed negotiations for the February 1 bout between Jack Delaney, former light-heavyweight champion, and Jimmy Slattery, of Buffalo.

McArdle also stated he had received Jack Sharkey's signed contract for his January 25 match with K. O. Christner, of Akron, Ohio.

Tex is Ready To Announce Florida Bout

Christner Only Obstacle in Sharkey's Path.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Tex Rickard will announce in Florida today that Jack Sharkey has consented to box Young Stribling for the north-south heavyweight title at Miami Beach on February 26.

This bulletin will be hot stuff at Miami, where Tex arrived this morning, but it will filter through the garden publicity channels as a sort of anticlimax. Everybody except Rickard has admitted that Sharkey is the guy, and Tex will simply make it unanimous today.

Only one thing can stop Sharkey and that is a sock on the jaw by K. O. Christner. The Bostonian will attempt to chastise the conqueror of Knute Hansen on the evening of Jan. 25 at Madison Square Garden.

Joe Dundee is due here tomorrow for an examination by boxing commission physicians and if he is pronounced fit he will be offered either Jack Thompson or Jackie Fields as an opponent at the Garden late in February.

Dundee and Thompson were matched for a Garden showing in November but the welterweight champion bowed out, alleging that a boil had attacked his right elbow. His excuse seemed legitimate but he was nevertheless placed under the suspension that now seems to have been lifted.

Coaches Favor New Ruling on Fumbled Ball

At Least, Those Who Lost Games Last Fall, do.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—It is easy to understand why some of the football coaches have been advocating a rule whereby a fumbled ball would be dead at the point of recovery. All one has to do is to recall what happened in the Georgetown-New York university, Lehigh-Rutgers and other games this fall.

It isn't hard to remember that Georgetown beat New York university because Provincial, an end, recovered a fumble for the lone and winning touchdown, and that Chase, an end at Rutgers, recovered a fumble that proved just as costly to Lehigh. Both winning touchdowns were made on runs of 97 yards!

If the new rule advocated ever comes into effect, a fumbled ball would be dead at the point of recovery, thereby making the loss of the ball enough penalty for the error, and also eliminating one of the likely breaks of a game.

The Break That Hurts

Such a rule would be like holding the batter to one base in baseball for an error. It seems to this writer, inasmuch as handling of the ball is one of the fundamentals of the game, that a fumble should carry as much of a penalty as possible to assure proper handling of the ball. And to have the ball dead at the point of recovery would certainly take away one of the thrills that come now and then when it is recovered for a touchdown.

Instances where a touchdown scored on a recovered fumble won a game are not so numerous that it doesn't hurt when it does happen. That run of Provincial's certainly hurt New York University.

The record book shows that 45 such plays occurred in 1927 against 80 for 1926. Statistical reports from 60 representative schools in all sections of the country for the past fall show that 22 such scoring plays were made by these 60 teams. Were one to estimate the number made by the supply of teams all over the country on the ratio of 33 such plays for 60 teams, what will all of them have? It would be reasonable to expect all of the 369 odd teams to check in a total greater than 100.

These 57-yard runs by Provincial and Chase were not the only ones in the nation. Opokun of Pennsylvania made a marker in the same fashion against Cornell with a run of 94 yards. Worthington of Montana State pulled a 99 on Nebraska, and Muff of California Tech got a 93 against Occidental.

To Tappaan, Southern California end, goes the credit for two such plays this year. He recovered fumbles against Washington State and Occidental and converted them into touchdowns with runs of 32 and 25 yards, respectively.

And The Others.

The only team to do it twice in one game was Iowa State. Burton ran 65 yards and Lutzens ran 35 yards with recovered fumbles against Missouri, Missouri, however, won.

Some of the other fellows who scored touchdowns on recovered fumbles either back of the goal line or on runs up to 99 yards are: Olson, Purdue; Kistemaker, Dennison; Lewis, West Virginia; Kenny, Army; Fuller, Tennessee; Feard, Centenary; Calderwood and Holmer, Northwestern; Lyle and O'Connor, Dartmouth; Hamas and Stahley, Penn State; Phillis, California; Clarke, Florida; Temerario, Geneva; Zeno, Loyola; Leary, Georgetown; Eddy, Yale; Schleusner, Iowa; Mullins, Notre Dame; Casey, Wisconsin; Donchess, Pittsburgh; Crowe, Rutgers, and Osborne, Colorado.

AT TERNTON, N. J.:—Dave Shade, California middleweight, knocked out Ray Still, Arizona, (8).

Victor is Sure to Give Walker Chase for Crown

Mickey's Ability to Make 160 Pounds and Like it, Is Doubtful; and He Hasn't Licked Either of Tonight's Rivals.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Taking the matter into custody purely on speculation, it would seem that out of ten rounds of candid violence between Ace Hudkins and Rene DeVos at Madison Square Garden tonight must emerge the new middleweight champion of the world. This statement obviously won't stand alone, in view of the fact that Mickey Walker is the old, the new and, in fact, the present middleweight champion; one, therefore, must come bounding gladly out from the players' bench with a couple of substitute legs and here they are: First, the prevalent belief that Walker cannot again go to the scales with 160 pounds and come away, unaltered. He last tried it six months ago in Chicago and, if he didn't blow up in the final six rounds that night, then I'm going down to Wall Street and wait for the next explosion to jolt me forward off my heels.

Has Licked Neither One.

Second, that Walker hasn't licked either of tonight's principals and probably won't.

He hasn't licked DeVos because he has paid him absolutely no attention in a manner most marked. He hasn't licked Hudkins because, so far as I am concerned, he just hasn't licked him. It is admitted, however, that some very competent critics thought Walker won the Chicago fight, so it may be that I am just plain goggled and cantankerous.

Anyhow, I can't "yes" that one. What happened that night supports, in a measure, the current idea that Walker no longer in a middleweight.

He clearly was out-gorilled by Hudkins and barely could lift his hands during the last five rounds. Kearns later explained that Walker was suffering from tonsillitis. However, the writer was with both of them the night before and, if Walker had tonsillitis, the writer had loosed on the bogoes and should have been confined somewhere out of harm's way. Later, Walker knocked out Emmanuel. But not as a middleweight.

Winner May Succeed to Title.

Anyhow, this pair tonight would do very well in any championship fight and, unless Walker can be divvied out of inactivity, it might be that the winner ultimately will succeed to the title. Hudkins has made some good fights and some bad ones of late and possibly he is not the man he was. But he suffices quite nicely, what with his strength, his aggressiveness and his undoubted heart. DeVos, one of those foreigners who develop late in their careers, has knocked out George Courtney, Phil Kaplan and, in fact, all middleweight opposition with the exception of Hudkins. It isn't surprising that the Garden has been sold out for weeks, since the postponement enforced by DeVos' illness early in the month.

AT NEW YORK:—Pat Silvers won decision over George Levine (19).

Ossie Bobkin, Detroit, won from Tony Esposito, Brooklyn, on technical knockout (3).

Roxy Allen, Camden, N. J., won from Harry Wallace, Brooklyn, on foul (3).

MANY HERE END COLDS QUICK, PLEASANT WAY

Unique Method Doctors Advise for Home Use Gives Almost Instant Relief

Glad that she took her doctor's advice instead of allowing neglect to make her feel more miserable, Mrs. Albert H. Haines now realizes how quickly one can get rid of a cold. For doctors are now advising home use of a pleasant hospital method that has brought surprisingly quick relief to numbers of people in East Liverpool, Westville and vicinity.

Mrs. Haines had neglected her cold three days in the hope it would "cure itself." Instead, congestion started spreading so that she called the doctor, who advised double strength doses of Ayer's Pectoral. Relief began almost instantly, he reports. In another hour or so the medication of wild cherry, terpin hydrate, etc., was absorbed by her system, loosening up congestion. By night her temperature was normal, the "icky" feeling was gone and in a day or so there was no trace of the cold.

Note: Other cases reported daily—all certified by attending physician. This hospital certified medicine quickly penetrates and breaks up inflammation of the air passages. Absorbed by the system it helps dilate congestion and drive out the cold from the nose passages, throat and chest. Just a few pleasant spoonfuls of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral now and you, too, will feel like a different person tomorrow. At all druggists—50c, and twice as much in $1.00 hospital size.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(Thursday's closing rally was carried into early trading in the stock market today and prices of the favorite industrial, motor car, copper and specialty stocks climbed 2-5 points. The reserve board's report showed another $19,300,000 shrinkage in brokers' borrowings, which showed that rich and powerful traders, rather than the little bulls, were buying bundles of stock.

Instead of starting at a low rate and working up, call money was posted at 12 per cent. As a starter, with the prospect of a further increase before the end of the day.

Most of the market's "blue chips" raced up at the opening, reaching higher price levels in the first half hour. Radio sold up 6 points at 37 1/2; Sears Roebuck gained 3 1/2; Montgomery Ward, 4; Kennecott Copper 4; General Electric 4 1/2; Atlantic Refining 2 1/2; National Bells Hess 5; Johns-Manville added 2 1/2 to yesterday's 9 point jump and sold at 196 1/2, exactly 100 points above the price at which it graduated from the curb to the big board a few months ago. Wright Aero gained 6.

Picking up the forward move that was interrupted a week ago, the motor stocks kept step with the advance, Chrysler again providing the leadership. This stock sold above 125 for a 2 point gain; Nash up 2; Hupp 2; Buick Manufacturing 2 and Willys Overland fractionally higher in active trading.

THREE DIE AS BANDITS STAGE CHICAGO JOBS

Former Convict Shot to Death in Drug Store Holdup.

MAN IS STABBED

Another is Killed When He Resists Robbers.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Three men are dead today following a night of lawlessness on the South Side.

Henry Cassel, an ex-convict, was shot and killed by Joseph Adler, a World War veteran, when Cassel and three companions tried to hold up Adler's drug store. Cassel's three companions escaped.

A few minutes before, the bandit quartet had attempted to rob the restaurant of Samuel Salvatore. When Salvatore and his friend, Pasquale Regina, resisted the bandits, the latter opened fire, killing Regina and seriously wounding Salvatore.

While police were searching for the outlaws, they came upon the body of Linus Nelson, 31, a carpenter, in an alley in the rear of his home. He had been stabbed to death, apparently the victim of holdup men.

A witness to the shooting of Regina and Salvatore later viewed the body of Cassel and identified him as one of the quartet that tried to rob Salvatore's restaurant.

Bandit Chieftain Hanged After Given 58 Death Sentences

BELGRADE.—The "Black Jovanovic," the bandit chieftain, who was several years terrorizing a part of south Serbia, protested against being sentenced for his crimes to 760 years imprisonment besides to be hanged twice. He thought this sentence of the court of Valjevo to be unjust and he appealed to the court of Cassation in Belgrade.

The result of the renewed proceedings has, however, not given him much pleasure. He was sentenced though only to 640 years penal servitude, but on the other hand he was sentenced 58 times to death. He was promptly executed.

How to Escape FLU

- 1 Avoid so far as possible the places where flu germs are most apt to be; crowded cars; public meeting places; warm, stuffy rooms.
- 2 Be careful of close contact with others and beware of all coughers and sneezers; breathe through the nose.
- 3 Get lots of rest. Eat plenty of citrus fruits. Keep the bowels open. Take every precaution to keep in good physical condition, so your system will have high resistance against germs.
- 4 Above all, avoid catching cold. Any cold may be the forerunner of flu. Take Bayer Aspirin at the first sign of a cold and you can ward it off. Gargle with Bayer Aspirin at first sign of sore throat as this will remove the infection.
- 5 If you have any reason to suspect even a touch of flu, call your doctor.

CHARLES ROGERS SCORES AS "ABIE"

Charles "Buddy" Rogers whose rise to movie fame has been nothing short of sensational has one of the featured roles in the picture "Abie's Irish Rose" now showing at the Ceramic theater.

Rogers has been in motion pictures a little more than two years, but in that short space of time has been heralded by all movie fans.

Paramount was quick to realize the popularity of the young player and recently elevated him to complete stardom. Perhaps no other player in motion pictures today has enjoyed the record Rogers has made for himself.

Picked from hundreds of candidates by a committee appointed by the motion picture company some two years ago for the purpose of finding a typical American youth, Rogers was given an opportunity to attend the Paramount Pictures School at New York City. He was given the leading role in a graduation picture in which all of the members took part.

Soon after this production was released Rogers was given a role in support of Clara Bow. Then came the master epic of the air, "Wings." Rogers was immediately acclaimed for his work in this film and his fan mail leaped with hours until now he receives more mail than any other male star in Hollywood, a sure sign that Rogers is held in the highest esteem by the public.

His first role in "Abie's Irish Rose" will serve to increase his popularity. He portrays the role of Abie, the Jewish boy who falls in love with Rosemary, the little Irish lass. The role of Rosemary is filled by Nancy Carroll, looked upon as a "comer" among those who know screen possibilities of a player. Nancy is a Jewish girl, having been born of Irish parents in Tenth Avenue in New York City. She has red hair, blue eyes, and speaks with a tinge of brogue.

BILLIE DOVE AT AMERICAN

Our own gorgeously beautiful Billie Dove never appeared to better advantage than in "Adoration," her newest First National picture which is the present attraction at the American theater.

In exquisite garb, with a role that calls for stirring emotional acting, and supported by a superb cast, she has a splendid opportunity for again proving her ability as well as once more assuring us that there is no lovelier woman gracing the screen today.

The story is by Lajos Biro, adapted and dramatized by Winifred Dunn and directed by Frank Lloyd, who recently made "The Divine Lady," starring the famous Griffith. It deals with the plight of Russian royalty and aristocracy following the revolution. They flee to Paris and there their destinies are worked out. The theme of jealousy forms the basis of the story and involves the lovely Princess Elena and her consort, Prince Serge, played by Antonio Moreno with great skill. Several arresting types are found in the picture. Lucy Dornan in the part of the maid to the princess, a good role, is a former UFA star, known as "the girl with the million dollar legs," a genuine beauty from Budapest, Nicholas Soussanin, a native of Crimean, and former Russian stage star, is the villain; Nicholas Bela, of the Comedie Francaise, in Paris, and the Gaiety stock company in Budapest, is the super-valet, Ivan; Emil Chautard, former well known director, is a Russian general; Winifred Bryson, Lucien Prival and others complete an admirably selected cast.

WILLIAM HAINES HIT AT STATE

A new William Haines. That is what the audience at the State theater last night decided when they saw the opening performance of William Haines' starring picture, "Telling the World."

Haines, who heretofore has established himself as a wise-cracking athlete who always learns better in the next to the last reel, has brought to the screen in his new production an entirely different type of character. Traces of the wise-cracker are still there but the character has softened and strengthened. As the newspaper reporter who doesn't recognize love until he has almost lost it, Haines is more human and admirable than ever before in his starring career.

Not that "Telling the World" isn't funny. It is. Probably the funniest of all the many productions Haines has contributed to make the heart of humanity lighter. This picture has everything; humor, pathos, drama and a smashing punch at the finish that had the audience on their feet as the battle planes of the U. S. Marine Corps swooped low over the square to rescue the girl from Chinese bandits.

Haines is more entertaining than ever. The report that his acting is almost entirely extemporaneous must be true. No one could possibly be so funny in cold blood. Sam Wood, the director, and his star are a happy combination, for their dual effort moves at a high tempo from start to finish; a tempo that has the audience roaring with laughter while still gulping to keep back the tears.

Anita Page, who makes her first appearance on the screen as Haines' leading lady, looks like the best picture bet that has appeared in many and many a month.

The murder of a prime minister by an archbishop is the climax of a play being produced in London.

One-half million dollars' worth of soaps are being sent from this to other countries each month.

Women of the United States are using a half-million dollars worth of imported perfumes each month.

Large quantities of smokeless powder are being sent from the United States to Poland.

Thousands of beaded bags of threaded imitation pearl beads are being sent from France to this country.

A smart dress of printed sheer crepe that you'll feel perfectly comfortable in whenever you go, for while its lines are simple, it is dressy enough for any occasion. A shirred inset at left side of skirt gives animation to hemline. The jacket full of bodice that is cut in one with right front section is flattering and is caught with ornamental buckle at end of diagonal neckline. Crepe satin, wool crepe, printed crepe satin, flat silk crepe, sheer velvet, crepe Elizabeth, cotton-faille crepe and sheer woolsens are interesting suggestions for Style No. 3383. Designed in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure and requires only 3 yards of 40-inch material with 1 1/2 yards of 3-inch ribbon for the 36-inch size. SUCCESSFUL METHODS FOR COMBATTING FLU AND COLDS

Follow These Rules — Do Not Fool With a Cold — Use Tried Safe Methods.

Look out for colds—even mild colds in the head and throat. Don't let them get down into the chest and lungs. Don't expose yourself to damp or wet weather. Don't go out if you are feeling sick. Influenza, grippe, pneumonia or other serious sickness often come from colds.

THE DANGER

Cold, "Flu" and Pneumonia Germs multiply by the millions and attack the weak and the strong alike. Watch out for colds, they weaken your resistance. The greatest danger lies in that "simple cold." Kill that cold quickly.

It is of vast importance to clean out the entire intestinal tract, upper and lower bowels. Keep the kidneys well flushed and freshen and strengthen the blood.

Experience Has Taught.
The experience of the 1918 epidemic showed that one of the best and simplest treatments was to take a steaming hot cupful of Bulgarian Herb Tea. Why take any chances, why not be prepared to fight off your cold or "flu." The right thing to do now is to go to your druggist, get a box of Bulgarian Herb Tea. Kill off your cold. Take it steaming hot twice a week. It will heat up the chilled blood, increase the circulation and rid the bowels and intestines of poisons and germs. Every family will find Bulgarian Herb Tea (purely vegetable) a real blessing to have on hand in this time of need. See your druggist at once. Your health—perhaps your very life—may depend upon taking this simple precaution.

GALSWORTHY'S "ESCAPE" TO BECOME TALKING-MOVIE FOR AMERICANS

LONDON.—Basil Dean, acclaimed by many as Britain's leading theatrical producer, is leaving shortly for the United States, where he will direct a talking-movie for an "important American film corporation."

The subject will be John Galsworthy's "Escape," which played for months to packed houses in England, but was more or less a failure in the United States this summer.

Dean, who until his breach with Sir Alfred Butt was responsible for many spectacular productions at the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane, has had a diversified career, having been in turn an analytical chemist, actor, manager, stage director and dramatic author.

His movie experiences up to now have been confined to one film, "The Constant Nymph," in which he was associated with Adrian Brunel. The play of the same name was a tremendous success but the critics have been unable to agree on the merit of the film. He recently visited the United States, Germany and France to gain a fuller knowledge of film production.

Dean was originally intended for the British Diplomatic Service. He made his first stage appearance in 1905 at Cheltenham. After a long career in repertory, he was appointed director of the Liverpool Repertory theatre in 1911, where he remained until 1913.

From then until the outbreak of the world war he was at His Majesty's theatre, where he was assistant stage-director to Sir Herbert Tree, the famous actor-manager. Nineteen-nineteen saw him appointed managing director of Readean, a producing company responsible for some of London's most famous post-war theatrical successes, including Galsworthy's "Skin Game," "Sacred and Profane Love," "A Bill of Divorcement," and "Love Among the Ruins."

The London "Evening Standard" sees a certain significance in Dean's forthcoming visit to America. "It means that he is to teach the American talking film how to talk," says the newspaper. "It also emphasizes the tendency of the talking film to become a photographed stage-play and the need for theatrical technique in its production."

It is probable the cast of "Escape" will be largely British, although most of the stars of the company concerned are Americans.

DAPHNE

Thrilling story of love of two girls for the same man

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

She meant to be even nicer to Daphne before their visit was over. Daphne must be conciliated, that old devil of a lawyer she worked for would probably put her up to breaking the will. There would be many little things about her mother's management that would not bear close inspection, Crystal thought, but heavens! Why worry. A few sweet words to Daphne, and she was your willing slave.

CHAPTER 50

The nurse left on Monday though both Daphne and Crystal begged her to stay until after the funeral. "I'm awfully sorry, but I have another case waiting," she said firmly, and packed her neat white uniforms and was gone on the first bus without even waiting for breakfast.

"Lard!" Crystal hissed after her. "She could stay if she wanted to. Well, I'll tell you one thing, if Mama doesn't stop carrying on I'm going to leave too!"

Adelina was palpably trying to act the part of the serene but grief-bowed widow, the role which she fancied most becoming, but she wasn't up to it. The sleepless nights planning and dreading Abner's death had undermined her nerve. The least sound set her to shrieking, and as nothing would induce her to sleep alone and Crystal absolutely refused to humor her, Daphne had to. It was a dreadful two days. A relief for all of them when the funeral was over.

"As soon as the business is settled, I'm going back to the city," Crystal announced when they were driving back from the cemetery in the Orville Wagner's mourners' limousine.

"Me too?" Adelina said hastily, adjusting her widow's weeds, which were a little askew. With Abner six feet underground she felt safer. And hadn't Fred Roach, the realtor held her hand a bit longer than was necessary in offering his condolence? It was plain he admired her.

"All right. Only you're not going to come park on me. Get that in your head right away!"

"Why Crystal, is that any way to talk to Mama?" "Don't start sniffing again. I just want to make it clear, that's all. I knew that would be the first thing you'd think of."

Adelina bridled. "Is that so? The poor old lady come to live on her daughter. Well! Let me tell you I have other plans, Miss, and don't you forget it. I can look out for myself, thank you, I am perfectly independent. Don't you forget that I am the widow, entitled to the bulk of the estate—"

"Oh, you'll get the bulk of it all right. You don't need to remind me of that, Mama. And I know better than to come to you for anything. I know you. Every dollar I've ever got out of you I've had to get down on my knees and beg for, it's a good thing I've got other friends, that's all—I'd have starved to death if I had to depend on you, and that old skinfint of a husband of yours, counting every nickel—"

"Shh—don't speak ill of the dead, Crystal. He was a good—"

"Yes I know what he was. Don't start that. As I said, it's a good thing I had other friends—"

"You'll never have another friend like your mother. And mama don't want you should talk that way. Mama knows you been a good girl, working hard at your art work and all, but what will other people think— (with a side look at Daphne) 'hearing you talk like that? Mama won't have it, you got to be more careful—"

"Mama—will you shut up?" "No I won't shut up. I'm advising you for your own good, and I don't want Daphne should think anything funny about you—"

Crystal laughed out loud at that. "Mama, you are so quaint! You even make me laugh, and when I can get a laugh out of coming back to the farm . . . oh well! How soon do we get the money? Daphne, you're almost a lawyer, how long do these things take?"

"I don't know," Daphne said, and wriggled still deeper into her corner. It was almost unbearable. Reflected in the window she could see Adelina's face, red and bloated under the brass hair. She could see her mean little eyes, her cruel, sensual mouth. "Poor father!" she thought, "he was lucky to get away. It would have been terrible for him if he had lived and been helpless, with her to nag him . . ."

But even that thought was not much comfort. She sat dry-eyed and tragic in her corner. As long as he had lived she had thought, "Some day he'll be different. Some day we'll get to really know each other . . ." And now he was dead. The day she had dreamed of would never come. He died as he had lived, a stranger to her. Unless it were that little moment at the end when he looked at her and tried to say something . . .

"Well, here we are," Adelina was saying. They were back at the old house. The sun was shining, the orchard was a mass of feathery bloom. It was still beautiful, still spring. And there were potatoes to peel and peas to shell for dinner. Old Man Haines was dead, but they had to go on living.

Crystal and Daphne sat up late, talking. Crystal was in one of her best moods, good-natured, scintillating, disarmingly frank.

"Mama would faint if she knew the truth about me," she said and giggled.

Daphne thought of Flora, and the things that Flora had hinted. The expensive apartment. That artist, Ralph . . .

"You mean—about your friends?" "Yes, though I haven't so many at that. Just a few nuts and artists, and a couple of big butter and egg men. By the way did you make many friends in town?" Crystal asked curiously.

"No—not many. Just a couple where I live, and one or two where I work—"

"See much of McKevitt?"

Daphne bit her lip. But Crystal seemed so sincere, so honestly interested. As if she didn't care whether Daphne met him every evening or not . . . "No, I don't see him much. Not—not as much as I'd like to," she admitted, determined to be as frank as Crystal.

"I thought as much. He's a funny one. He's either bombarding the doorstep, or giving you the absent treatment. Mama thinks he'd be the ideal husband—"

Daphne's heart turned a somersault and seemed to rise and stick in her throat. Ralph . . . Crystal's husband . . .

"But I'm not so sure," Crystal went on, thoughtfully. "He isn't so hot. I think it's up to a girl to look around a bit first."

Daphne began to breathe naturally again.

"Of course all Mama can see is matrimony. That's the way with those old-fashioned gold-diggers. But I don't know, I think a girl can do as well without it. Now I have a friend, Avery Woodward his name is . . . honestly, Daphne, I'm just mad over that man, and still I wouldn't marry him—not for a minute! I'd lose him—just like that if I did. And then sometimes I think men are more generous when they aren't married to you than when they are. If you play your hand right. Still . . . the bills I have! I'm of a naturally optimistic nature, but I swear to goodness I don't know what I'd have done if your dear Pa hadn't kicked off about now."

"I don't know where the devil they all came from. Say, I wonder how much we'll get? Do you think Mama has been cheating on us? I'll bet she's got a hoard somewhere about the house. What do you say we look how about that cracked teapot in the sideboard? Or on the oilcloth under the kitchen table? What do you think, Daphne?"

Daphne shook her head seriously. "I don't think that there is much money left." She hesitated for a moment, then she added resolutely, "You might as well know it—I've been sending money home for quite a while. They needed it for the taxes, and the interest on money father borrowed."

Crystal's mouth hung open. She looked at her step-sister with contemptuous pity that she made no attempt to conceal. "Well you are the prize idiot!" she said at last.

From upstairs came Adelina's shrill tremolo. "Ain't you girls coming to bed? I won't shut my eyes till you do!"

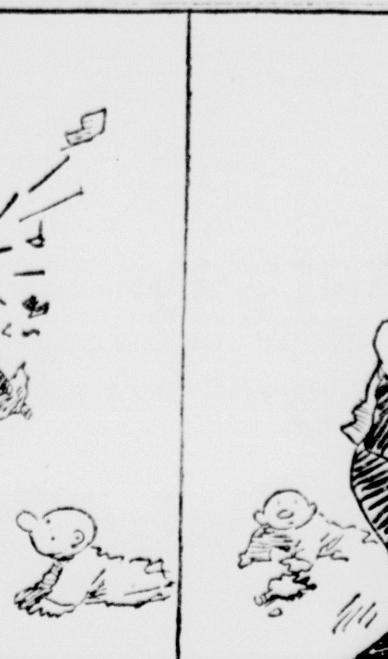

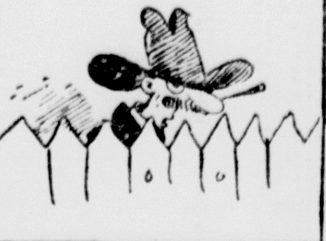

"She even talks in her sleep," Crystal groaned. "Well—we might as well go up. This is the night before Christmas."

"The what?" "The night before Christmas, same as I said before," Crystal grinned, and did a few dance steps. "There's a lot you don't know, Daphne darling, and one of them is we see dear Papa's lawyer tomorrow!"

U. S. Rum Navy Will Scan Pacific CoastSan Francisco and Puget Sound Will be Established as Bases for Fleet.

SAN FRANCISCO—Gangway for Uncle Sam's rum navy! With a bone in its teeth, decks bristling with grim cannon, the hootch armada is leaving Pacific waters enroute to rum frontiers extending from British Columbia to the coast of Mexico. Eight government vessels—six perky little patrol boats and two formidable cutters—comprise the whiskey war fleet.

Coast guard headquarters here announced that the new addition to its Pacific patrol would be ready to sweep the seas by the first of the year, augmenting the present government fleet which has already reduced the menace of the once defiant rum row to a whisper.

San Francisco and Puget Sound will be established as bases for the fleet, revealed Captain D. F. A. de Otte, division commander of the coast guard. Radiating from these two pivotal points will be cutters and patrol boats, prepared to render any service at sea in addition to its main object of routing whiskey carriers.

Heading the new fleet is the 250-foot cutter, Chelan, to be stationed on Puget sound. Named for an Indian chief, the redoubtable Chelan will go on the warpath on North Pacific waters. Her sister ship, the matter Tahoe, will establish her home port in San Francisco bay. In a few days the cutters will be followed by six patrol boats, each measuring 15 feet in length.

"From armament to speed, these boats embody the latest in government maritime construction," announced Captain de Otte. "They were built primarily for seaworthiness, rather than speed. Any of them can take a run to Honolulu, if necessary."

Prohibition has thrown the United States Coast Guard into the public limelight, but liquor patrol is only part of the service of this branch of the navy, it was pointed out by Captain de Otte.

"The coast guard has been after smugglers since 1790—all kinds of smuggling," he said. "Our main service, however, is the relief of distressed vessels at sea, and bringing aid to the isolated and inaccessible regions of the coast line."

Even with the newly augmented fleet to be ready for service early in 1929, additional expansion is planned, it was announced. Several new vessels of the most modern type will be sought.

LIQUOR BUYERS HIT BY RULING

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Purchasers of liquor were held equally guilty with bootleggers when the sale involves the element of transportation, Federal Judge William H. Kirkpatrick in one of the most important court decisions since the passage of the 18th amendment.

Under Judge Kirkpatrick's ruling Alfred E. Norris, wealthy New York club man, was fined $200 for conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws in buying liquor from Joel D. Kerper, Philadelphia's "Society Bootlegger."

73 YEARS OLD MAN

Lasting Relief from Stomach
Trouble, After All Else Had Failed.

MR. J. E. COX.

From thousands of happy hearts, young and old alike, pour words of gratitude and praise for Konjola, the new medicine that banished pain and disease when all else had failed. Imagine the joy of Mr. J. E. Cox, Broadway, Washington Court House, Ohio, when he writes:

"When one medicine can end twenty years of suffering for a person at the age of 73, you know that medicine has exceptional merits, and that is exactly what Konjola has done for me. Stomach trouble was the worst of my worries, bringing on gas bloating, indigestion pains and their companion sensations. Constipation made everything a great deal worse and this constant suffering made life almost unbearable."

"One day I read of Konjola relieving a neighbor of mine, who suffered with his stomach about the same as me. Right then I made up my mind to try this medicine. What a blessing it turned out to be. It was exactly what I had always needed. All my health miseries are gone and life has a brighter outlook. Even my work has become a pleasure. Indeed, I will always be glad to tell others about Konjola."

Konjola is sold in East Liverpool, O., at Carnahan's drug store, and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section.

BLOCK STATE
BANK MERGER

Columbus Directorates
Turn Down Ohio-
Huntington Plan.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 28.—Directorates of the Huntington National and Ohio National banks, among the city's largest financial institutions, blocked a move to merge the two concerns, it was learned here today. According to reports in financial circles the merger was to have been based on the exchange of Ohio National Bank stock, at a given rate, for Huntington National securities.

That the Ohio National should retain its independency, prestige and large resources are understood to have been the reasons behind the failure of the merger. Directors of the Ohio National are said to claim the merger plan was promoted by "minority interests."

in Pockets.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28.—Detectives here were working 12-hour shifts today in an attempt to solve a series of murders by robbers.

The latest victim was Hyman Japkin, 50, a junk dealer, who was shot to death last night in a barn where he kept his horse.

Police believe the same two bandits who murdered Max Cohen, a junk dealer, Dec. 17, when he resisted them, also killed Japkin. The pair are supposed to have held up a third junk dealer recently.

After he had been shot, Japkin staggered to a nearby house, knocked on the door and when it was opened fell face downward into the kitchen. He died before he could tell much about his assailants. He had $39 in cash in his pockets and is believed to have resisted the bandits.

Columbus Police War
On Reckless Drivers.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 28.—Motorists of Columbus are beginning to take heed of the police drive against reckless driving, it was indicated today by the decreased number of names on the police blotter of persons charged with such offense. Municipal judges have been handing out jail and workhouse sentences to those found guilty.

Thirteen reckless drivers drew jail sentences of from one to 20 days from Judge Holmes yesterday. Every day during the last two weeks from five to a dozen reckless and drunken drivers have been receiving stiff sentences. There were only eight names registered at police station today for those offenses.

Wipe Out Tuberculosis and Increase
Life Expectancy, Larsen Tells Scientists

White Plague Causes
More Than 129,000
Deaths Every Year,
University of Wisconsin
Man Says.

By James L. Kilgallen.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Scientists assembled here at "the greatest scientific congress ever held in this country" were told today by Dr. Harold D. Larsen of the University of Wisconsin that tuberculosis causes more than 129,000 deaths every year in the United States and that if the disease could be wiped out the average length of life would be increased about two years. That is, the life expectancy of the average person would be raised from 55 years to 57 years.

Dr. Larsen was one of scores of speakers at various meetings being held simultaneously at the eighty-fifth convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. About 5,000 learned men and women are attending the sessions which will continue until January 2. Among those present are the country's foremost authorities on medicine, psychology, geology, geography, physics, sociology, education, engineering, agriculture, zoology, botany and other branches of science.

Monetary Loss is High.
"The effect of tuberculosis on the life expectancy, or average future lifetime, is of supreme importance," said Dr. Larsen. "The expectation of life at birth among white males, for instance, would be increased from 55.388 years to 57.317 years if tuberculosis were completely eradicated. The 1,341 years are lost between the ages twenty and seventy, the important wealth-producing ages in man's life.

Federal Attorney
Launches Campaign
On Malt Dealers

COVINGTON, Ky.—A legal assault upon the malt and hops business, has been launched here by Sawyer A. Smith, Federal district attorney.

Smith contends that the malt and hops business is based upon the use of those commodities for illegal home brewing of beer and has ruled that arrests of sellers of malt and hops should proceed. On this theory, Anthony Droege, local grocery store owner, was arrested and federal prohibition agents are threatening to arrest managers of a number of chain grocery stores in this vicinity.

The malt and hops dealers contend that their wares are used in preparing food products and that they are engaged in a legitimate business.
